LAWRENCE VANORE represents clients in all aspects of environmental law, permitting and land use, with a particular emphasis on permit and enforcement issues involving the Clean Air Act, including Prevention of Significant Deterioration and Title V permits, and has frequently appealed such permits and defended permit appeals on behalf of business clients. He also counsels clients on compliance with the Clean Water Act, State and Federal Superfund actions and all solid and hazardous waste laws. In business transactions, Mr. Vanore works closely with the firm's mergers and acquisitions lawyers to perform environmental due diligence. In addition, he represents business clients in OSHA regulatory actions. His public law practice focuses on local zoning and planning, including the preparation of local zoning ordinances and comprehensive plans. Mr. Vanore has also assisted numerous municipalities in Indiana with annexations. His litigation practice includes defending local zoning boards and plan commissions at both the trial court and appellate levels. He is a frequent speaker on environmental, zoning and municipal law topics.
